MRS. G. E. WOODWARD

GN a few more days the school term of 1926-27 will be over and no more will we hear the friendly voices and footfalls of our class as its members go through the buildings of this institution.

As Juniors, we could boast of having the largest class in the history of the institution. Our total enrollment amounted to three hundred and forty students. Our Junior-Senior Garden Party was the outstanding social event of the year.

This year we can boast of one hundred and fifty pictures in the senior section of the Grassburr. In our class we have four students who entered the institution as freshmen and have labored hard for four years. We feel that the year has been fairly successful. Many of the most outstanding athletes of the year have been members of the Senior Class. We elected two of the three Most Popular Students. The J-Tac and Grassburr staffs have been composed mostly of Seniors.

We are leaving a band stand as our memorial. We hope that this will in some way show that we appreciate what Tarleton has meant to us.

BEM P. ALLEN
Kosse, Texas
E. E.

Engineers' Club '24, '25, '26; Pres. Club '27; Pres. Officers' Club '27; Grassburr Staff '26; Rifle Team; First Lt. Crack Company '27; Lt. Colonel '27.

A description of the colonel in one phrase would be, "A Prince of Good Fellows." Allen believes in hard work. He accomplishes what he sets out to do. Bem has been one of the best liked commanding officers that Tarleton has ever had. We hope him success of the highest degree throughout his life.

MARY D. YEAGER
Blessing, Texas
Social Science

Aggettes; O. W. L. S. '25, '26, '27; Pres. '27; Sponsor 1st platoon Co. C '26; Edu. Club '26; Sec. South Texas Club '27.

I have sometimes heard it said that precious things come in small packages. This is certainly true in Mary's case. She is always humorous and by this attitude has gained friends that will continue through life, friends that we all enjoy having. An unreplaceable spirit will leave when Mary departs.

DARWIN HOLTON
Thornton, Texas
E. E.

Band; DeMolay; Master Councillor '27; Annual Staff '27; Sergeants' Club '27.

"Rip"

Rip is one of the kind of fellows that one must know well before his quiet thoughtful attitude makes an impression, but once the impression is made it grows and mounts into real friendship. Rip has a way with the co-eds that is the way of many. He makes them do the rushing. No doubt his secret would be a "payable on demand proposition" if he cared to make it so, but he just keeps his secret and the girls keep on rushing.

MARGARET NESTER
Palacios, Texas
Social Science

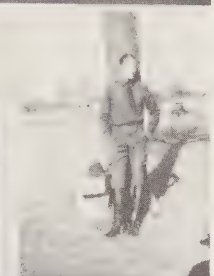

O. W. L. S. '26, '27; Aggettes '26, '27; Education Club '26; Glee Club '26; Pres. South Texas Club '27.

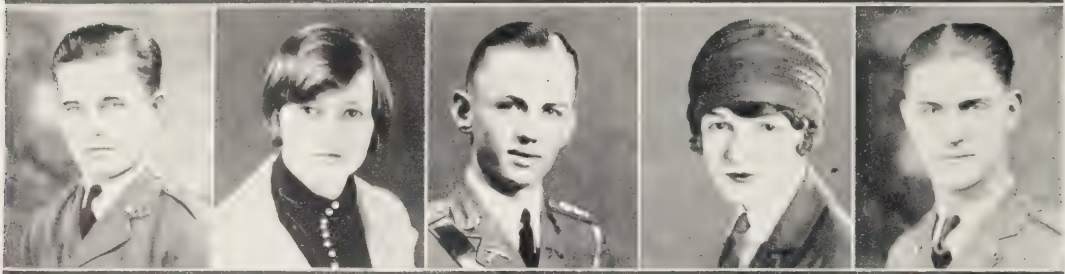

Margaret is from Palacios and is proud of it. Palacios is often called the City of mud and water, but Margaret says this is not true and offers to show us about the city if we will only stand the rigors of the National Guard camp in the summer.

FRANK JAMES
Sonora, Texas
Agr. Administration

Rifle Team '25; Cowboys Club '25, '26; Baseball '26, '27; Bn. Staff '27; Corporal '26.

Frank, better known as "Major Dunc" furnished the surprise of the year when he rated a major, but we are glad to say that it was a glad surprise and he surely has filled the position well.

GRADY NANCE
Brownwood, Texas
Civil Engineering
Engineers Club
'23, '25, '26, '27;
DeMolay '23, '25,
'26; Lucky Thirteen
'27; T. T. P. '27;
Sgt's Club '27.

"SHORTY" "G"

Shorty is an old timer here and we are proud of him. He is another of the crew who believes in the old adage, "Laugh and the world laughs with you, weep and they laugh at you." He always has a smile and hearty greeting for his many friends and that has been a great factor in his popularity.

Shorty, old boy, we hope you the best of happiness that is bound to come with your ultimate success.

BEATRICE RUCKER
Dublin, Texas
Home Ec.

Aggettes; Pres. Aggettes '27.

When the faculty selected Beatrice as Lord Tarleton they surely showed good judgment. We are very proud of this young lady. She is the type of person that plays in a care-free state of mind and works with all zeal and seriousness possible. We are wishing her the very best of success in life.

CARL MCKELVY
Valley Mills, Tex.
Agr. Administration
Cowboys Club
'27; Sgt. Crack Co.
'27; Lucky Thirteen
'27; Sec. Officers
Club '27; Capt.
Adj. Bn. '27.

"Mc"

Mc wouldn't be so great if it wasn't for two things: his personality and his girl friend from Palacios. He just has a good personality, which we all admire, and who could blame him for associating with the company that he does; we can't all be half so lucky.

We feel sure that the friends that he made while here are plentiful enough to make life a bed of roses unto the end.

BERNICE BOONE
Stephenville, Tex.
Business Adm.

Aggettes; Commercial Arts Club; Les Lunettes.

Bernice is another one of the town bunch that is so distinguished by the carefree happy attitude of its personnel. Bernice knows the courses in Business Administration from "A" to "Z" and we don't mean maybe. The best of luck in life is our wish for this fair young coed.

J. GEORGE DEWALD
Copperas Cove, Texas

Civil Engineering
Engineers Club
'26, '27; Glee Club
'26; Calculus Sharks
'27; Boys Rifle
Team '27; C. C. C.
'26.

If you want to find out anything good about George just go to any of the Profs of the engineers' department. George came to Tarleton with the intentions of becoming a civil engineer and if any one has accomplished his task George has.

George, we hope you the best of success as you seek higher honors among the engineers.

WILLIAM PANNILL
Stephenville, Texas
Pre-Med.

Officers' Club;
1st Lt. B Co.

Pannill is a very efficient officer. When the drill is the hardest and the competition is the keenest, then William is at his best. Along with being a good military man, Pannill is a jolly good fellow. He makes two things, friends and the honor roll.

RUTH HOWELL
Proctor, Texas
Social Science
Aggettes.

When you are looking for good grades, look for Ruth's name on the monthly report. We believe that Tarleton's greatness is due to the individual character of its faculty and student body. In accord with this axiom Ruth has surely done her part in building up the institution. Her friends of this school are hoping her the very best of luck in life.

D. BLANKINSHIP
Stephenville, Texas
Social Science
Boxing; Chorus;
Glee Club; Tarleton
Videttes.

Blankinship is a fine fellow. He seems to enjoy hard work rather than dread it as most of us do. Dolman is that kind of fellow who looks at every one alike, and rightly considers them all his friends. We are glad to see this boy get the reward of his hard work at Tarleton in the form of a diploma, but we are sorry to see him leave the institution.

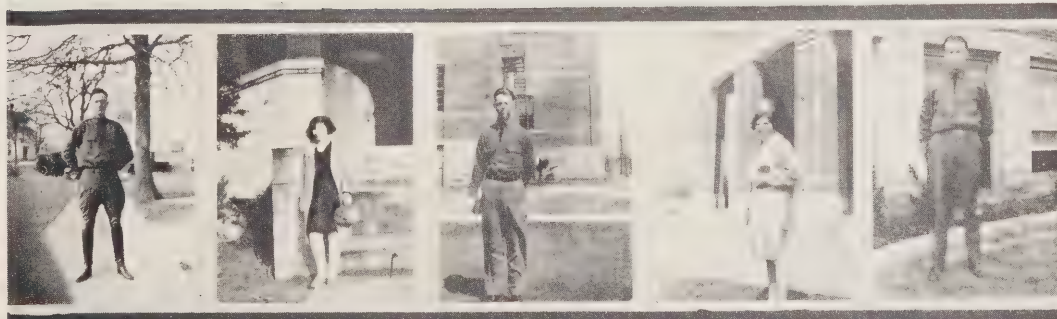

LILLIE WHITE
Stephenville, Texas
Social Science
Aggettes.

Lillie is the type of individual that every one likes. It would almost take an adding machine to count up her many friends. She has one failing and that is chemistry. We hope this young lady the very best of success in life. Some day we expect to hear of her being a great person in this old world in which we live.

REX GEORGE
Rio Hondo, Texas
Business Adm.

Sgt. Band; Sport
Editor J-Tac; Commercial Arts Club;
South Texas Club.

George is another one of those fellows who are in the habit of sporting a red bar on the old dress uniform. One of these days we will hear of a great business man who claims to be from Tarleton. If he is making a great success, then bet your money that this fellow is old George, for this boy is going to make a mark in life.

K. R. DAILEY
Breckenridge, Tex.
Chem. Engineering
DeMolay '26, '27;
Band '26, '27;
Engineers Club '27;
Grassburr Staff '27.

K. R. is the type of an individual that believes in the policy "Try, try, again." We can't say that he is the wilkiest student that Tarleton has ever known, but he is one of those who works to learn and not to get by. Colonel is small in stature but he sure can make the drum talk.

GLADYS WEST
Gap, Texas
Social Science
Aggettes.

Gladys is the kind of girl that is liked by every one. We cannot vouch for her past or future, but for the two years that she has been in Tarleton we can say that she has been an inspiration to all who knew her. May your life be a long and happy one, Gladys.

HILL CONE
Mt. Vernon, Texas
Pre-Med.
Baseball '26, '27;
Crack Company '26.

We challenge the world to produce evidence that Hill is ever without a ready smile. He is never without a snappy comeback and never in ill humor. We are glad that Hill decided to come back this year for we feel that he holds a unique place in the hearts of many that no one else could fill. (Especially one.)

JEWELL MOORE
Wellington, Texas
Social Science
Aggettes; Glee Club; Chorus.

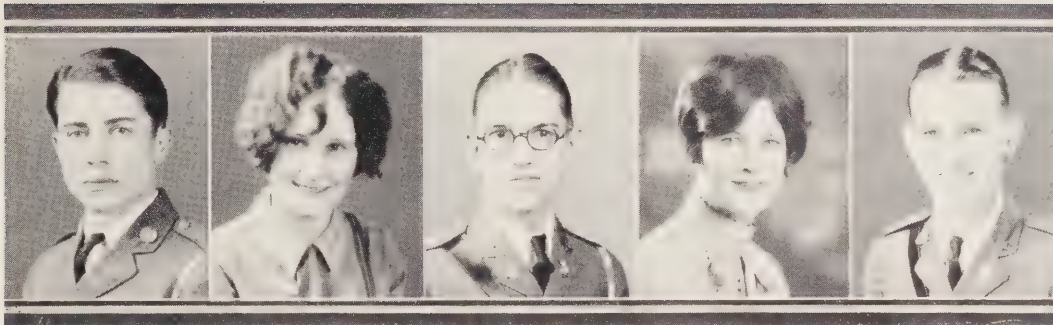

We are proud of Jewel, because she is that type of girl that the longer one knows her, the better one likes her. We know nothing of her previous record, but while in Tarleton she has never been behind in her classes. Jewel, may you ever have as many friends in this world as you have in Tarleton is our desire.

CHESTER BARNES
Corsicana, Texas
Social Science
Sgt. Band '26, '27.

The most prominent thing about "Blondy" is his size and his good cheer. He is taking two courses — Social Science and Touchstone. He is afraid that Bonnie will get big enough to make him mind.

R. O. YOUNG Glen Rose
Social Science

He has been in Tarleton for two years. He is famous for his pugilistic ability, his studiousness, and his way with the girls, but his fame rests chiefly not in the ring, his books, or his amours, but in his mischievous smile.

RUDENE BOYD
Stephenville, Texas
Business Adm.

Glee Club '25, '26; Aggettes '25, '26; Sec. of Aggettes '26, '27; Sec. of Girls' Rifle Team '26, '27; Commercial Club '26, '27; Les Lunettes '26, '27.

"A perfect woman, nobly planned, to warn, to comfort, and command." Sufficient!

ANDREW KENDRICK
Gatesville, Texas
Social Science

Band '26, '27; Orchestra '26, '27; 1st Lt. Band, Officers' Club.

Kendrick is just that kind of fellow that you like to meet and then continue your relationship with. He is a great asset to the Tarleton Band. Any honors that were accorded to him in this institution were not mere accidents. He won them by hard work and sterling qualities. Andrew has a wonderful future before him.

BLANCHE HALL
League City, Texas.
Home Ec.

I. D. A. Aggettes; Basket Ball; Hikers; T-Association; South Texas Club.

Blanche is an athletically inclined girl who has retained her school girl complexion and beauty through her association with nature. She will also be remembered for her capability to cope with any situation, and for her work as an "All Tarletonite."

EARL RAY
Breckenridge, Tex.
Social Science

Band '26, '27; 2nd Lt. Band; Officers' Club.

"ROSIE"

Rosie is, well let us say a very much of a ladies' man. Not our champion S-Aer by all means yet one of the first line men. Rosie is a good fellow, a good student, a perfect gentleman, and a good officer. We all like him and what more need be said?

SID COFFELT
Walnut Spring, Tex.

Social Science
"Sid"

Sid is a distinguished member of the "Fort" and was also a member of "26". Any time a mocking bird is heard in the boys' dormitory Sid is thought of. He is the mocking bird's only rival, for whistle he certainly can.

ERNA L. HUNT
Stephenville, Texas

Social Science
Aggettes '26, '27;
Calendar Editor
Grassburr '27.

Erna is an active participant in the college life and activities, and she is an active member of the Church. She is a careful student and can always be depended upon to bring up anything to which she may be assigned.

W. C. WILCOX
Rising Star, Texas
Mech. Engineering
Engineers Club;
Lucky Thirteen '26,
'27; Officers Club
'25, '27; Commercial
Club '25; T. T. P.
'26, '27; J-TAC
Staff '26, '27; Reg.
Staff '26; Crack
Co. '27; Cap't Co.
B '27

"BARNEY"

Barney is an old timer here and when he goes out it will be like tearing down the Eco. building or any other old landmark. He is a true pal and a real friend, we feel that Barney's natural good humored trend of mind and his military firmness will serve him many times, and we hope that his future days will be like unto a path of roses.

LOUISE WALTON
Hamilton, Texas

Home Eco.
Aggettes '27.

Louise is not a book-worm but takes great interest in her Home Economics. Probably she will meet some one who will be proud she has had this training.

FRED CURRY
Carleton, Texas

General Ag.
Cowboys Club
'26, '27.

"RED"

We all like Red because of his humorous ways and because he is the same fellow everywhere. Red gained his first popularity as a student in the drawing room and as an athlete on the baseball diamond. Luck to you, Red.

TERRILL GRAVES
Stephenville, Texas
Social Science

Baseball '26; T-Association.

Terrill is a jolly good fellow. He is the kind of a baseball player that you can depend on to hit and to field perfectly. Graves left us before the year was out. We hope him the very best of success in life.

MOLLIE L. BROWN
Gatesville, Texas
Social Science

Aggettes.

Mollie is a very popular person on the Tarleton campus. If she is an average type of the girls in her little city, then believe me, we would like to be a resident of Gatesville. Tarleton will miss Mollie, so will Rex.

HAROLD WRIGHT
Mexia, Texas
Business Adm.

Officers' Club; Major Bn. Staff; Commercial Arts Club; Crack Co.

We often wonder if Harold is a relative of the great author bearing the same name. Harold, by the way, has a great deal of ability along the lines of writing. I heard a certain English teacher say that his papers were a pleasure to grade rather than a trial. His life at Tarleton was a success. May it continue to be such.

DELMA MARTIN
Trickham, Texas
Social Science

Aggette Club '26.

Delma came to Tarleton in '26 and right then and there things began to take place. She isn't the type of girl that feels proud of herself, but rather the opposite, the type that other people are proud of.

HORACE BROOKS
Levelland, Texas
Elec. Engineering

Engineers Club '26, '27; Corporal Co. B '27.

"BROOKS"

Horace left us before school closed. We hated to lose him because he would have finished his course in Electrical Engineering, had he not left. With his ambition, we believe that he will some day come back and continue his course.

B. A. FICKEN
Beaumont, Texas
Social Science

Ficken is a civvy lad by choice. When we spell his name we are tempted to spell it "fickle", because the crying part of the human race has a strong attraction for him. A good-humored smile, and a pleasant greeting will make him missed in the classrooms of Tarleton.

MAE CANTRELL
Lamkin, Texas
Social Science

Aggettes; Sec. of J. T. D. C. '27.

If Mae can study as well as she can act on the stage we recommend her for the halls of fame. She has been indirectly connected with our football team this year. John Patton can verify this statement. Go it, Mae.

HOMAN GRAGG
Dallas, Texas
Social Science

Pres. Senior Class; Band '25, '26, '27; 1st Lt. Band; Yell Leader '27; Six Horsemen; Officers' Club '26, '27.

Homan holds more offices than Mussolini. He is the popular selection of the student body for almost any office that comes up. But no wonder for he is a fair-minded, straightforward fellow that may be depended upon in a crisis. His characteristics are the things that great men are made of.

GAY CAUDLE
Stephenville, Texas
Home Ec.
Aggettes.

Admired by many but won by one. Gay is a friend to all and a friend of all. Tarleton is, indeed, fortunate in securing students of Gay's type. We are sorry that she must leave us this year, but we hope her the very best of success in life.

N. B. WILKERSON
Aledo, Texas
Social Science

This "high-powered" Cadet made a mistake and went to Weatherford last year. Since he landed in Tarleton he has felt proud and Tarleton has also felt proud of his attendance. May his table ever be loaded with hot biscuits is our wish for his prosperity.

JEWELL WERNER
Comanche, Texas
Social Science
Aggettes '27.

Her glasses increase her absorption power, although she is above the ordinary in her school work. When she takes her place at the teacher's desk in some school room that particular room will possess a capable and loyal teacher.

C. McDOWELL
Coppers Cove, Tex.
Civil Engineering
Engineers Club
'26, '27; C. C. C.
Club '26; Calculus
Sharks '27; T. V.
Club '27; 2nd Lt.
Co. A '27; Corp.
Co. B '26.

"CHECK"

Check is a real fellow. As Horatio in Hamlet, he would be wonderful. He is quiet, unassuming, and intellectually strong, coupled with a friendliness that is refreshing. Chester, as you fare forth into the world of broad-minded men you may be sure that you carry with you the greatest regard that one man can have for another.

LILA W. KENNEDY
Carlton, Texas
Social Science
Aggettes '26.

Wilma might be better known in Carlton but we doubt if she is better thought of. She hasn't caused any miracles or anything like that to happen since she came to Tarleton, but she surely has carried her part of the burden.

EDMUND GRIZZEL
DeLeon, Texas
Social Science

"Eddie" is a careful student—careful not to overwork! His cheerful greeting is always desirable, and it is willingly given. If you should want to find him on some privilege night just ask some one if "Shorty" Patton went to the show.

DALE WILLIAMS
Grandview, Texas
Home Ec.
Aggettes.

Dale is the type of person that in all probability could tell you something about chemistry or most any other subject you might ask about. She has made two things in this institution, good grades and friends.

KEY CURL
Tolar, Texas
E. E.

Band member '26, '27.

Key makes up in intellect and determination what he lacks in stature. True is the saying "precious things come in small packages." He is lucky enough to be musical, good looking, and silent.

INEZ WEBB
Stephenville, Texas
Social Science
Aggettes.

Inez is a jolly good sport. She is a hard working type of girl and makes good grades. Her place will never be completely filled at Tarleton.

WAYNE FITZGERALD
Breckenridge, Texas
Social Science
Basket Ball '26, '27; Track Team '26, '27.

We find in "Fitzzy" a student who makes the honor roll, loops the basket in basket ball quite regularly, and manages to out-run and out-jump his opponents. A student, an athlete, and a man!

LILLIE HALEY
Bronte, Texas
Home Eco.
Aggettes '26, '27.

For a while Lillie carried a lot of weight about the campus—that is if Baylor Bell can be considered of very great weight. A gentle zephyr floated in from the west and Lillie became a student of Tarleton. A deep thinker, a good student, and a true Christian.

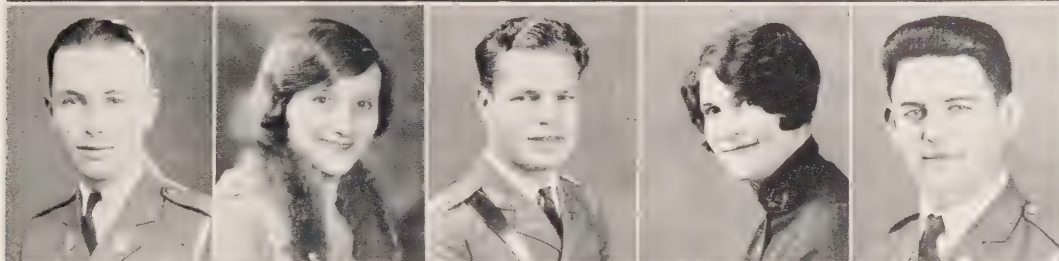

JIM GARDNER
Winters, Texas
E. E.

Sgt. Club '27; Sgt. Co. B '27; Grassburr Staff '27; Engineers Club '27.

"JIMMIE"

"Jimmie" is a "good looker", a studious chap, and a regular fellow. When he smiles his ears move back to give the wrinkles room, and when he goes awooing you can hear Romeo turn over in his grave.

RUSSELL BROOKS
Mt. Vernon, Texas
E. E.

Engineers Club
'26, '27; DeMolay;
Sgt. Club; T. V.
Club.

"Big Bozo"

Bozo is one of those kind of fellows who can always be depended upon. Never hurrying, never worrying, but always moving forward. He has made himself known as a calculus and mechanical drawing shark. We wish Bozo the greatest of success and happiness in the future.

LEOLA HARRIS
Stephenville, Texas
Social Science
Aggettes.

Leola is a quiet, studious girl. She makes good grades and seems to thoroughly enjoy her work. She is liked by both students and faculty members.

CLAY MCCOY
Tahoka, Texas
Pre-Med.
1st Lt. P. M. S.

"Mc"

Mc is a man in many senses of the word. He is manly and upright and can be depended upon to speak and do his duty. He showed up well on the football squad, but was kept out of the larger part of the games on account of injuries. We hope he will some day become a great doctor and do his bit in the service of mankind.

EURA M. HOOVER

Corporal Co. A.

Powell is an all around good fellow. He makes good grades, he is serious about his work or his play, and above all he lives up to the standards of a good Tarletonite. Surely that is enough good qualities for any one.

O. C. COOK
Dublin, Texas
Social Science

Cook is the kind of fellow that when you meet him you hope that some day you will see him again. We are expecting great things to come into the life of this true Tarletonite. He has the undying qualities that go into the making of a great man. A long and happy life is our wish for you, Cook.

BEULAH MILLER
Bellevue, Texas
Social Science
Aggettes.

Beulah came to Tarleton from that institution over the way that causes us so much trouble. Well probably it is better to have made a mistake and corrected it than to have never made a mistake. Miss Miller has been a very good student. We have all enjoyed knowing her and hope that her life will be very successful.

"STUD"

Stud breezed into Tarleton in the fall of '25 like a cow-puncher with a months pay ahead. His carefree, laughing attitude was the envy of many, and his ability to catch passes helped to win many games for the Jim Team. We feel that, without the presence of fellows like Stud, the world would be a rather dull place in which to spend our few allotted years.

"BARLEY"
"NAPOLEON"

Barley is a true pal. He has made a hit with the Tarleton boys just because of his good natured friendliness. He studies some, a small sum, but we feel sure that he will eventually make a success of anything he attempts.

AARON EDGAR
Wellington, Texas
Business Adm.

"GEORGE"

George is another one of those little heard of but well thought of men. If you want to run down the Business Administration course you had better not do it in the presence of George, because he is a big man and believes in his choice of a life-time occupation. We believe that he will be one of the many that will leave Tarleton prepared for a great business career.

BEATRICE CURRIE

Aggettes '26, '27.

Some people can make A's in English just as regularly as the grades are posted; Ferol is one of those students. Now anyone that can do that deserves high mention and we are glad that we can say this for her. Ferol came to Tarleton in '24, and has been one of the leading students since that day. The person that fills her place will have plenty of work to do.

WAYNE KAY

Aggettes.

Miss Griggs is a typical example of the personnel of this institution. She is happy and carefree, yet never allows pleasure to interfere with her school or church work. We are proud to have such students as Ila Mae in this school.

SAM WILKINSON
Stephenville, Texas
Elec. Engineering
Band '26, '27; Captain Band '27; Engineers Club '26, '27; Orchestra '26, '27.

Sam has one of the most highly honored positions in Tarleton; captain of the band. He received this position because he is a real musician, a good sport, and a striving leader. Tarleton is proud of him and when he departs the loss will be heavily felt, not only by the band, but by the entire student body.

EDNA MORRIS
Stephenville, Texas

Jack is a Prince of Goodfellows among the men and a Prince of Wales among the opposite and fairer sex. Although he is not very large, we know that precious things often come in small packages. Many times have I walked the streets and the campus with him and heard a fair one murmur, "How precious" and "How Cute", hearing all this how could I be other than convinced.

Possibly one reason for this was that Cow was never too greatly afflicted with that disease so fatal to football stars, the S. A. Cow, as you fare forth into the great beyond, may your guiding star ever direct in the way that will better bring out your best talent.

"DOGGIE"

"Miss Atkinson, I don't think we should take this test today. It is raining and I never could think when it was raining." This is Bruce all over. His powers of persuasion are developed to the nth degree. This is especially true when the fair sex is concerned. He would make a good lawyer because he could talk a Hebrew out of his last dime and that is going some.

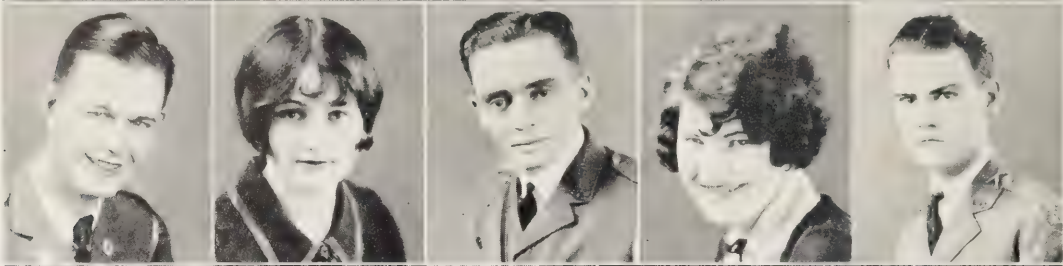

ROWENA CLARK
Stephenville, Texas
Social Science

According to the reports at this time, Miss Clark has the highest average in her work of any of the seniors. This is indeed a great accomplishment. It is a record that only one student can attain each year and can only be attained by a pupil of the highest intellect.

MATT GRAHAM
Carbon, Texas
Social Science

Old Matt is another one of those civvy lads by choice. We sure hope that his married life may be a happy one. Graham is our barber and believe me he sure is a good one. Matt is very popular on the Tarleton campus and we are prophecying that this popularity will continue throughout his life.

REX BUTLER

"REX"

Rex is one of those kind of fellows that doesn't mind trying something else if he can't succeed at what he first tries. Rex couldn't be called a "sheik", but it isn't his fault, he just can't get out of uniform. We surely admire his cheerful smiles.

EDITH McILROY
Tolar, Texas
Social Science
Aggettes.
Edith is certainly a good sport. She believes that Tarleton is a good school and that it has a good student body. To demonstrate this she very promptly makes friends with these students. There is not a person in school but what is proud of his or her friendship with this bonnie co-ed from Tolar.

"LITTLE JIMMIE"
Little Jimmie is a military man who could out military General Pershing and feel perfectly at ease. We think he received his military air from the Lt. Col. of '26 but we wouldn't be sure, because as the fair sex says, "Doesn't he look big and military and handsome in his uniform? Oh I just adore a man like that." Yes, we will have to hand it to the major for knowing how to get along with the fair sex.

LULA M. MARTIN
Stephenville, Texas
Social Science
Lula Mae is a friend to every one on the campus. She makes good grades and seems to enjoy her work. As time rolls on success will surely knock and will be received by this true Tarletonite.

RICHARD TIBBS
Valley Mills, Texas
General Agr.
Cowboys Club; Tarleton Videttes; Sgt. Club '27.
"BRO. WEST"
Dickie is that type of an individual that has accomplished some heroic deed that gained his popularity, but his good, quiet, unassuming ways have gained the solid friendship of the students. We hope that he is ever as successful as he has been in Tarleton.

INEZ PONDER
Gustine, Texas
Social Science
Aggettes.

Miss Ponder is sure a jolly good kid. Her departure from this campus will cause no little regret on the part of the student body, but in this institution as well as elsewhere, even the best of friends must part. We are sure that this young lady has a wonderful future ahead of her.

CLYDE BROWN
Rotan, Texas
Social Science

Well folks, meet a musician of the first class. Maybe you will never believe it until you have heard him, but Clyde can sure make a guitar talk. We are proud of Brown and believe that some day the musical world will accept him as a great genius.

A. M. BLACKMON
Bellevue, Texas

Aggettes.

A bonnie lass from Bellevue, yes sir, that is Annie Mae. Bellevue has always sent a high type of student to this institution and this young lady is no exception.

JAMES SMITH
Killeen, Texas
Pre-Med.
1st Lt. Co. B.
"SMITTY"

Another one of those poor foolish fellows that set sail in the sea of matrimony. Yes, Smith quit school along in the fall and married at Christmas time. As an officer Smith was liked by every one. He was efficient and serious about his work. These are two words that go into the spelling of success.

LUTHER M. SMITH
Stephenville, Texas
Home Eco.
Aggettes.

Lukie is another one of our old married ladies. Instead of getting her diploma from the Home Eco. department she received a Mrs. degree. Luther Mae was a friend to every one on the campus. We hope that she and James may have a long and happy married life.

GUS LEHMANN
Mason, Texas
Social Science

Gus is pretty small in stature, but he sure is a big hearted fellow. Every time you see him he is the same old Gus, never the least bit angry or discontented. We are hoping that Lehmann's life will be full of sunshine and happiness.

MARIE LEWIS
Morgan Mill, Texas
Social Science

In the western novels the gunman hits town and things start happening. It was the same when Marie hit Tarleton except different. This time the thing that happened was in the form of creation of new friendship. We have all enjoyed her stay at this institution and hate to see her leave.

CHARLES RAY
McKinney, Texas
Social Science

Charles doesn't talk much but believe me when he does he sure says a mouthful. He has been an inspiration to all who have known him. We are hoping for his ultimate success in life.

EDNA SMITH
Hico, Texas
Social Science
Aggettes.

Edna has three outstanding characteristics: She is a true Tarletonite, a sincere friend, and a loyal student. Tarleton has been benefitted by her presence at this institution and it is our hope that the two years she spent here may prove to be a great help to her in future life.

"JIM"
Jim is Suvella's brother. Abbott would tell you that this is enough recommendation for anyone but we believe that we can add something. Jim is simply a prince of a fellow. He is the type of person that is very earnest in any kind of task he may undertake. As manager of the school paper he has been a great success.

PRENTISS JONES
Stephenville, Texas
Social Science

Behold, the conquering hero arrives upon the stage. Yes, Jones was married last summer and believe me if you will just take a peep at him and then look one picture to the right you won't blame him. Prentiss, we are hoping that you may have a long and happy life.

MRS. JONES
Stephenville, Texas
Social Science

Folks, meet the victim of Jones' conquest. Tarleton has never known a nicer or more refined girl than Mrs. Jones. We have all enjoyed our friendship with her and are hoping that some day we may meet again. Tarleton shall not forget Mr. and Mrs. Prentiss Jones.

EMMETT NOAH
Stephenville, Texas
Business Adm.

Emmett is a civvy lad not by preference, but because nature willed that it should be so. He is a quiet, good natured, studious lad and one that makes a better Tarleton for his presence.

In future years when he becomes a hard headed business man we hope that he will remember his many friends of Tarleton in '27.

ERLYNE JONES
Stephenville, Texas

Another one of that type of individuals that John Tarleton, its student body and instructors, will indeed miss but never forget when this year has passed down into history.

"SHAF"

Shaf is the king of the calculus sharks. And he carries the honor well for when everyone else has forsaken a problem he will keep right on trying and usually bring up the solution. However, no one could accuse Shafer of being a book worm, for there is that little girl back in Breckenridge that is causing him to make frequent visits home. Shaf we wish you much happiness and success in the future of your chosen career.

L. B. came to Tarleton for two reasons; to play in the band and to acquire useful knowledge. We believe that he is now justified in leaving Tarleton, since he has well finished his two missions.

RILLA STIGLER
Morgans Mills, Texas

Aggettes '26, '27.

Rilla has high ideals about choosing a future companion; with all things considered, she should accomplish her goal. Unlike most girls, Rilla seems to have a liking for chemistry. Many are the hours she spent in the lab. Rilla, may we call this a toast to you, we drink to your success.

OSCAR HOOD
Stephenville, Texas
Social Science

Mr. Hood is what we call a settled man. We have a few like him who act as advisors to us younger heads. It is always better to have someone who has had experience to take the lead. Mr. Hood, a man of your type should furnish a large part of the world's mental power, and we feel that you are willing to give your best.

JEWEL BAIZE
Gatesville, Texas
Social Science
Aggettes '26, '27.

Jewel has her place in the memory of all who know her as one of the sweetest girls in Tarleton. She is a blonde and contributes largely to the world's fund of kindness, toward the shortcomings of others. Altogether she is well worthy of taking care of the "Dump girls."

JUNIOR

WE, the Juniors of '27, the largest class in the history of John Tarleton Agricultural College, take pride in announcing to the world that there are three hundred and ninety students on the class roll, practically half of the entire student body of the college. We give as the reason for our success our class officers, Jess Davis, President, Edison Powell, Vice President, Louise Williams, Secretary, Verne McKay, Treasurer, and our class sponsor Mrs. Ramey.

In activities, which bring to the individual classes honor, we have been more successful than any previous Junior class. Miss Betty Burleson, a junior, was elected by the student body "all Tarleton girl" and Miss Verne McKay was chosen "May Queen".

We are, at the time of this writing, planning to give the Seniors a garden party; it is to be one of the most unique social affairs ever given in honor of a Senior class, in the history of Tarleton.

As Juniors we have had a very successful year, but as Seniors we anticipate even a greater success.

SOPHOMORE
FRESHMAN

WITH a year's instruction in Tarleton we have lost the freshness of the fish and have become the most sophisticated of Sophomores.

We had lost the greenness of the fish, so early in the year we met and elected the following officers: R. J. Golden, President; F. McDougale, Vice President; Bertha Miller, Secretary-Treasurer; Jonnie Wilson, J-TAC reporter, and Miss P. Mahan, faculty adviser.

We have worked faithfully and have enjoyed our work, we have also enjoyed the associations with our fellow classmen and friends. We have encountered some good luck and some bad luck but we feel that this is only a sample of what we shall come in contact with in the future when we have finished our education and have become men and women of the world.

THE Freshman class of '30 is probably the smallest class in the history of the institution, but neglecting the size, we have been trained as freshmen and have developed a love for Tarleton and a class spirit, that in our estimation, has never been surpassed by any freshman class previous to our organization.

We were rather slow in calling a class meeting and electing officers, but in our first meeting we elected C. L. Marmon President and since then we have managed our affairs very successfully. We have fond hopes of acquiring that dignity only possessed by SENIORS.

FIRST STRING MEN

A CHAMPIONSHIP TEAM

CAPT. MENZIES—End

HOUGHTON—Half

THE Plowboys opened their grid season Saturday, October 2nd, with the Baylor Reserves at Waco. They were forced to take the small end of the 12 to 6 score, but even this was a moral victory for the Plowboys, for the Reserves were a strong eleven.

Paris Junior College cancelled their game for October 8, so this week was spent in rounding the team into shape. With nine letter men and a host of good new material the coaches were busy producing one of the best football teams in the history of Tarleton.

STARR—Tackle

McMURRY—End

WILLIAMS—Half

HOUGHTON—Half

TARLETON vs. MERIDIAN

In a slow game, on a heavy field, the Plowboys were forced to take the little end of a 3-0 score at Meridian.

A muddy field and fumbles were the chief factors in the loss, for the Plowboys outplayed the Cougars throughout the game, making eleven first downs to the Cougars' three.

SMITH—Tackle

DAVIS—End

LOCKHART—Guard

LAWSON—Guard

TARLETON vs. HILLSBORO

In a sea of mud the Tarleton Plowboys defeated the Hillsboro Junior College to the tune of 12-0. Neither team was able to score in the first two quarters, but in the third quarter the Plowboys were able to put over one touchdown and again in the last quarter, thus winning 12-0.

TARLETON vs. WICHITA

The Plowboys in an easy game defeated the Wichita Indians 34-0. Houghton starred racing 46 yards for a touchdown.

INCE—Guard

ROGERS—Guard

ROBERTS—Full

EVANS—Tackle

TARLETON vs. McMURRY

In a non-conference game the Plowboys, on Hayes field, defeated the McMurry Indians of Abilene, the score being 26-7. This was one of the best games of the season. It was filled, from the beginning of the first quarter till the whistle blew at the end of the game, with thrills that can only be had at a football game.

The backfield and line both starred. Marr dashed 26 yards for a touchdown. Roberts starred with passing and punting.

TRELOAR—Quarter

MARR—Quarter

PATTON—Half

GILL—Center

TARLETON vs. WESLEY

The Wesley College Panthers were defeated by the Tarleton Plowboys on Hayes field in a very hard-fought game. The score was 23 to 0. Patton, half, and Burks, full, were the stars of the game. Patton made many yards on his sweeping end runs and Burks by plunging the line added to the gains made by Patton's end runs.

BURKS—Half

CHITTLE—Mascot

CULPEPPER—Tackle

McCOY—Half

TARLETON vs. N. T. A. C. (GRUBBS)

In a biting, blinding, and stinging sandstorm, the mighty Plowboys beat the Grubbs Hornets on their own field on Turkey Day, 13 to 0. The Tarleton Special arrived at 1:15 loaded with four hundred loyal Tarletonites eager for the battle. Each player put out his all for Tarleton on this day and some of them were putting out for the last time, they were Capt. Menzies, Starr, McMurry, Rogers, Marr, Williams, and Roberts. The game was a fight from start to finish, both sides fighting valiantly, but TARLETON BEAT GRUBBS AND WON STATE CHAMPIONSHIP.

Basket Ball Champions 1927

DAVIS, Guard

"Jess", a two letter man in basket ball, the best guard in the Texas Junior College Association. The fear of any forward.

GLOVER, Forward

Glover another "fish" who won fame as one of the defenders of the Purple and White.

MATHEWS, Center

"Suds" a freshman but a center any college would be proud of.

STARR (Capt.), Center

"Stomper" a two letter man in basket ball and who as a center was beyond compare. Over six feet of man and one of the chief factors in winning the championship, although he was out of the game for about a month because of bad health. He was admired by all opponents.

IRWIN, Guard

"Honk" was laughed at by many of his opponents but before the game was over they had ceased to laugh. "Honk" is just another "fish".

FITZGERALD, Forward

"Fitzie" was fast and steady, he could shoot a goal when others feared to try. His shooting brought victory to the Purple and White many times.

HOUGHTON, Forward

Houghton was fast and often broke away from his guard much to their sorrow. An eye for the basket and energy for the shot.

Basket Ball

TARLETON'S basket ball season, like her football season, was a great success. It was terminated by a game with GRUBBS and a victory for the Plowboys. For the second time in the year we defeated our ancient enemy, winning a CHAMPIONSHIP in each defeat.

OTHER ATHLETICS

BASEBALL

WITH only four letter men back this year our chances for a winning team looked very poor but with the new material Coach Hudspeth built around Williams, Massey, Rogers, and McCorkle a team that was a championship team, although no award was given in the conference.

In eleven conference games the Plowboys won seven and lost three and tied one. At the end of the season our percentage was higher than that of any other team, but due to a mix up in the number of conference games played we were not awarded the championship. Our old rivals N. T. A. C. (GRUBBS) were again in second place. Even though we cannot say that we are champions we have the consolation of knowing that we defeated Grubbs.

TRACK CHAMPIONS 1927

WITH only four letter men back for the 1927 season, Coach Frazier began his work early last fall and continued until the state meet. Captain Houghton, Bacon, Fitzgerald, and Starr were the four old letter men but with the abundant new material Coach Frazier put out a team that made Grubbs look sick in the State Track meet held at T. C. U. Stadium.

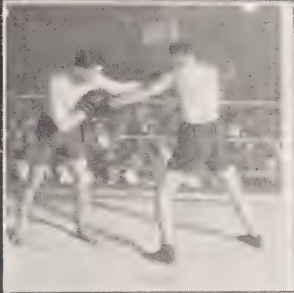

On Monday, May the 9th, the meet of track meets came off. It was in this meet that Tarleton won the third state championship in major sports. We did well in all of the field events and the distance races, but it was the sprint and hurdle men who brought victory to us. We were never in danger of losing the meet and we increased our chances steadily until it was over. We then had about fifteen points more than our closest opponent, the North Texas Hornets.

Point winners in the meet were: Smith, ten; Watkins, Starr, and Fitzgerald, eight; Stockton, three; Irwin, three; Hardesty and Bacon, two and three-fourths; Curry, two and one-half; Jones, two; and Harrison, three-fourths.

THE Girls' Rifle Team has been a wonderful success this year. Under the careful training of Captain Muleahy every one of the girls has developed into a good shot. Mrs. Ramey and Miss McDonald, as faculty advisors, have done a lot to make the club a success as a social organization. The club has grown from year to year and we are expecting a lot from it next year.

FOR the past few years the J. Thomas Davis Debating Society has existed and grown. Dean Davis has been an honorary member. This year a new club was organized which is known as the Ollie O. Society. This club has Associate Dean G. O. Ferguson as an honorary member. These two clubs have been great rivals. Twice each month these clubs have met with a team from each side to debate. No other club in school has been as peppy as these two. At each meeting yell leaders have presided and yells have been given for the teams. Miss Lillard has been faculty advisor.

From these clubs we selected a team to represent Tarleton as a whole. Lester Smith and Will Hurtt were selected, and they were a plucky team. Three times they won unanimously from opposing teams while representing the negative side of the question. These times they won from Howard Payne College, Brownwood; Weatherford College, Weatherford; Decatur College, Decatur. One time they won while defending the affirmative side. This time they won from McMurry College, Abilene. Only once did we lose. This was to Wayland College, Plainview.

It has always seemed difficult to interest a great number of students in this work, but this year we have made a great progress. If we continue to grow, it will be but a short while until we shall have one of the most interesting and we hope one of the most beneficial clubs in our college.

THE White House Loafers have been a live bunch this year. We have had a good many representatives in all branches of the athletics this year. Most of the basket ball members came from the White House. We have been represented on the honor roll with about the same percentage as in athletics. We also boast about having more officers in our house than any other one house in town.

Aggettes

JUST as a young field of bluebonnets has to withstand all kinds of weather and hard knocks to become a solid patch of blue, so has our Blue Bonnet Aggette Club of Tarleton. During the last five years we have grown from a scattered group of thirty to the solid patch of 195 bluebonnets.

We have as our aim the building of a club house at the college farm. Each year the club raises funds for this purpose. This year the club raised $75 by giving entertainments.

At our annual banquet in May, we elected officers for next year and awarded athletic letters to the girls who had worked hard to have this honor.

The Test

"JUST give Ted a chance and help him along as much as possible, and I believe everything will be all right," said the doctor. "You see, Ted's father was an old friend of mine, and after he died, I couldn't stand to see the boy dragged down into crime." Then the coach learned the whole story,—how Ted Coleman had begun running with bad company and, led by older boys, had finally committed a crime for which he had been sent to the state reformatory. The kind old doctor had come to the rescue and at his own expense was sending Ted through college. As the boy's greatest desire was to be a member of the football team, the doctor turned him over to the coach.

After four years the tall, gawky, freckle-faced lad had developed a remarkable physique and was rated as the speediest half-back that Carson college had. Furthermore, he had gained the respect and admiration of faculty and students. He was pleasant, loyal, democratic, and studious. But it was as Ted the football hero that his comrades idolized him.

For the final game of the football season Coach Bronson was depending on Ted. He knew that if any of his backfield men could break through the heavy line of Wellington's football team, Ted Coleman was the man. The night before the game the coach talked to the team at the gymnasium. "Boys," he said, "You all realize that our next game is with one of the strongest teams of the state. You know that we are the underdogs. Everyone is betting against us, but I know—and we all know—that if we go into that game fighting as we have always fought, we will be state champions when the game is over."

That night when Ted was telling his roommate about the speech, his face glowed with enthusiasm. "Tubby," he said, "I am going to play that game as I have never played before."

"Yea," said Tubby, grinning, "I guess. You had better make the last game of your career a good one, because that little brown-eyed girl named Marjorie Walton is going to be there on the sideline."

"Aw, cut the chatter," growled Ted, sailing a book at his unlucky roommate's head, "you know that I am not a lady's man." Then he added gloomily "money is the worst worry that I have. You know that Doctor Walton is sending me through school. It is not because I am extravagant that I need money so badly, but because there are some old debts that I must pay before school is out. Now, if I only had a position to look forward to, I could enter that game without a worry."

"Well, go on to bed and get a good night's sleep and quit worrying about money and old debts," said Tubby.

At last morning came. The whole college was aglow with enthusiasm. Ted was in wonderful spirits as he walked up to the post office and inquired for his mail. The post-master handed Ted a big bunch of letters. Some of them were from his friends in his home town, but one was a big, business-like envelope, and Ted opened it with a frown on his face. It informed him that the old home place of the Colemans was in danger of lawsuit, unless the last mortgage was paid within the next ten days. Ted felt his heart sink, as he thought of his mother having to leave the old home that his father had left to them when he had died. "It will break her heart," Ted murmured to himself. "I must get that money in some manner."

Ted walked slowly over to the gymnasium and began to get ready for the game. While he was dressing, a well-dressed stranger came up to him and asked, "Are you Ted Coleman?"

"That's me," said Ted.

The stranger called him to one side to explain his business. "I am very much interested in the game today," he said. "In fact, I have a five thousand dollar bet with a fellow that Wellington will win the game today. You are the only one that can break through Wellington's line, and if you could not do it, my bet would be safe."

"I don't see what you are driving at," said Ted. "Do you want me to bet against you?"

The stranger laughed. "You don't get the idea, my friend. I am going to write you out a check for one thousand dollars, and you are going to lose the game to Wellington. Is that clear?"

For a moment, Ted was too surprised to talk. "You get out of here," he said with a threatening look. "I am not that kind of a sneak."

The stranger smiled blandly. "Well, anyway, I am going to hang around for an hour. That will give you time to think it over. Remember,—one thousand dollars is a lot of money."

True to his promise, the stranger returned at the end of the hour. Ted had thought the matter over. He could not bear to see his mother driven out of the place she loved so well. Tears were in his eyes when he spoke to the stranger. "I need that thousand," he said, slowly, "and, I am going to take you up."

"I thought you would weaken," said the stranger, extending his hand. "Come around at the end of the game, and if you have lost it, the money is yours."

With his head down, Ted led the team on the football field. The crowd went wild. Wellington was there full force, but the Carson rooters, on the other side of the field, were screaming wildly to their team. The band struck up the college song, as the team fell in line and began to run signals. A moment passed and the referee walked out on the field, and the game started.

Ted felt sick, as he allowed his team to fall back at every drive made by Wellington's heavy backfield. Roar after roar went up from the Carson rooters. Ted knew that the rest of the team were putting their very lives into the game. He felt miserably weak and little, but his decision was made. Gradually the Carson line began to weaken before the heavy onslaughts of Wellington's heavy backfield, and before the end of the quarter, Wellington had scored. Ted never realized how the next two quarters passed. He merely knew that his teammates were fighting like tigers, and that Wellington was again almost across the line. The whistle blew at the end of the quarter, and during the short interval between quarters, members of the team looked anxiously at Ted.

Ben Hartgrove, one of Ted's best friends, patted him on the shoulder, and asked, "What's the matter, old fellow? Aren't you feeling well?"

Ted almost choked as he answered, "I am doing my best, Ben; I guess they are too heavy for us."

And then,—came the last quarter of the game. The Carson rooters came out of the bleachers and were pleading and begging the team not to give up. The sidelines were thronged with college boys and girls—some of them crying and others laughing hysterically. This time, the Carson line held. As the team covered the ball, a cheer went up from the sidelines. "This time surely, we will score," was the thought in everyone's mind. Ted took the ball, and as he allowed himself to be tackled behind the line of scrimmage, he felt that a thousand eyes were peering into his very soul. Again, the ball went over and again the Carson line held fast. They were near the sideline when the Wellington quarterback punted. Carson covered the ball and the quarterback began to call signals.

"Don't let Ted Coleman have that ball," yelled someone from the sideline. "He is afraid he will get hurt."

Ted turned toward the sideline and saw a big fellow standing on the sideline. He had on a Wellington sweater. Then he saw a pair of brown eyes looking at him with a steady look. Marjorie Walton was crying. "Ted," she sobbed, "show them that you are not a coward."

Then, with a shock, Ted realized what a coward he really was—a coward, to stoop to such a crime as his. Tears were in his eyes, as he turned to the nervy little quarterback. "Give me the ball, Ben," he said, slowly. "I want just one more chance to make good." As Ted received the ball, he murmured a prayer, "God help me to win for her." Ted plunged straight through the Wellington line. Side-stepping, stiff-arming, plunging, and using every football tactic that he knew,—Ted plunged through the line. Then, the rooters went wild, for Ted was in an open field, and it was utterly impossible to stop that human whirlwind, as he sped across the line. If Ted could only kick that goal, the game would be won. Ted's kick was perfect, and straight as an arrow the ball went between the bars. A few seconds later the game was over, and Carson was state champion.

Ted felt himself borne away on the shoulders of a joyous mob. A few moments later, he was in the gymnasium; the first person to congratulate him was Dr. Walton. "I congratulate you for two victories," said the doctor, smiling happily; "one was the football game and the other was a victory against temptation."

Slowly, Ted began to understand.

"You see," he said, "I wanted to give you one hard test before telling you that as one of the directors of the Centerville Guarantee Bank, I had recommended you to the directors as a good assistant cashier, and they have accepted you. The fellow who tried to bribe you was sent here by me, and because you did not lose that game today, I am going to give you my personal check for one thousand. I know you need the money, and I am able to spare it."

For a moment, Ted was unable to speak. He sobbed unashamed as he tried to thank the kind old doctor. Now, everything would be all right, and his mother would not have to leave after all.

As Ted left the gymnasium, Tubby yelled at him, "Where are you going, old top?—Home?"

"Well," said Ted, "if you really want to know, I am going to see that little brown-eyed girl you are always teasing me about."

Consolation to the Seniors

23

When the seniors' last lessons are studied,
And quizzes are things of the past,
When the grades have all been recorded
After we've worked right up to the last,
We shall rest, and, Seniors, we'll need it:
We can sleep for an hour or two,
With never a dream to remind us
Of other hard studying to do.

Then—those who have worked shall be happy,
They shall stroll around in pairs;
Each weary and worn-out senior
Shall be free from worries and cares;
We shall have a long rest from then on
With never a bell's shrill call,
And our heads shall have done with aching,
For we'll not have to study at all.

—Inez Webb.

Tarleton

THE word Tarleton means very little to the majority of the people in this world, but, to me, it means one of the greatest things of my life. It means another home, friends, and a place where a person can enjoy receiving an education.

In this great institution of ours, we are not merely professors and students, but we are also great friends and associates; our professors are not those who sneer and scorn the students under them, nor are our students those who dislike their teachers and dislike to attend classes under them; but we are as one large family with our fellow students as our brothers and sisters and our instructors as our parents, not only teaching us the principles of the book but also giving us the advantage of their experiences in life.

Here, in this great school of ours, we make the majority of our life-long friends and here we decide, with the help of our friends and our experience, what our aims in life shall be and in what lines our efforts shall be directed. Here's hoping that everyone is able to appreciate the things that Tarleton has given him as much as I do! Here I have made my best friends, and, to me, friends mean practically all there is in life. I sincerely hope that all the sons and daughters of Tarleton have the same sacred feeling that I have when the beautiful refrain, "On Ye Tarleton", is sung, and that they will always be loyal and uphold the standards and aims of our great college.

—O. J. Studeman.

Student Labor

THE large number of Tarleton students who are working their way through school is remarkable. It is interesting to consider the industry of our boys and girls, who are really taking advantage of every opportunity. The result or profit of their labor is made to depend on the character of the student and the manner in which the work is performed.

The diversified lines of approach to the instructor are the things first to be taken into consideration. The art of working a teacher, for surely it deserves to be called an art, is very complicated and exacting. The artist must be shrewd and alert. He must be prompt and courteous, and more than that he must have the necessary "line to put the deal over." This hard-working student must thoroughly convince his instructor that he has great ability.

In accomplishing this task, he will find a seat directly in front of the desk, the most effective location. He must resolve to laugh at every joke, agree with everything said, and manage to register interest at all times. Such things as complimenting Miss A's new dress and admiring Mr. B's new Ford car are little personal touches which must never be neglected. One may pry around until each teacher's hobby is found, and then inform one's self on the same so that he can discuss it with great length. It is often profitable to assume the same hobby and constantly remind the instructor of the similarity of interests. An occasional trip to the 'varsity store on the suggestion of the student is a valuable stimulant. One should keep in mind that it is the little things that count.

On the other hand, there are things which one must not do. Never under any condition should he allow himself to glance impatiently at his watch, but instead when the instructor starts off on something he has already told, the student should let him talk and appear concerned over it all. Never should he go to sleep; it just is not the proper attitude. Conferences should never be slighted, nor should some young hopeful destroy all chances for even a C by talking too much. His listener will probably glean that his knowledge is limited. Standing around in the hall is not advisable. He should avoid cutting classes, but if it is necessary, he should try to think up an original alibi.

Winsome co-eds have ways of their own to pass college courses; they patiently strive to secure teachers who are of the opposite sex. It is wonderful to see the young women of today with such a marked diligence. Some are so skilled in "their line" that they seem to be able to work even the Commandant. At least, some way they manage to keep off of the delinquency list and never fail to secure a permit. Their devices are kept in perfect secretiveness, for they will not confide their methods to the less fortunate ones.

But after all, let us consider,—do not these industrious and persistent students deserve the fruits of their labor? They earn what little they receive. Long live student laborers!

—Lucile Hearon.

Meditations

Oh, why am I sad
When all should be glad?
Why am I worried and blue?
Oh, why do I sigh as moments go by
For things not yet come true?

Why should I mind
If I should find
That my work is not that of a poet?
Stories are told in ways manifold,
Shall I not choose my way to do it?

Poets will come
Like the morning sun
To brighten our lives with thoughts so rare,
And I hope some day to send forth a ray
And in music my soul to declare.

Lieut. Dale of Company B insists that the second platoon belongs to the right of the first platoon in company formation, and he also asserts that his platoon will drill just as well when inverted.

It was war time. Seeing a khaki-clad figure passing the private called out, "Hey, Buddie, gimme a light." The other obligingly held out a burning match. The dough boy looking up to thank his "buddie" discovered to his amazement the the star of a brigadier. "I beg your pardon, sir. I didn't mean any disrespect. I didn't notice that you was a general."

"That's all right, buddie," said the general who appeared to be a regular fellow; "but you had better thank the Lord that I am not a second lieutenant."

Louis Hiler had a choking fit in the dump, and when he was called upon for an explanation he said that "little Bozo" Brooks had caught him with a mouth full of meat and "hollered" "whoa!"

A train was coming fast,
The train got off the railroad track,
And let the senior pass.

College: A coach surrounded by enthusiasm.

Colonel Mayo: "Where is the rear sight?"

Jack Abbott: "I thought it was on the gun."

Minister: "My boy, do you attend a place of worship?"

Duck Marr: "I'm on my way to her house now."

It is better to have flunked a thousand times than never to have loved at all.

Student: "Don't know sir; I am not yet acquainted with the state's game law."

The Equation on the Varsity Floor

'Twas a balmy spring noon hour, a bunch of cadets stood about
That well nigh filled the Varsity
Shop as the eleven twenty let out,
And as cries of glee and laughter came through the open door;
An Engineer dragged slowly in and sank upon the floor.

"Where did the 'Math Shark' come from?
some one said, "The class is just now out."

"What does it do?" another cried, "A song, a joke, or shout?"

"Here, Pat, bust him, if your belt's as good as mine;

I wouldn't touch him with a bayonet,
he's an overgrown 'slime'."

This badinage the poor wretch took with stoical good grace,

In fact, he smiled as if he thought he'd found the proper place;

"Come, cadets, I know there's helping hands among so good a crowd;

To be in such good company would make McSweeney proud."

"Give me an Algebra! I'm out of class,
you know,

When I had time to help the bunch,
this brain was never slow;

What? you laugh as if this brain had never held a cell;

I once was plenty good, my boys, as
Me. can surely tell."

"There, thanks, that braced me nicely,
God bless you, one and all.

Next time I pass this place I'll make another call;

Work an experiment? No, I can't do that,
my Chem Lab days are past;

My head is aching, my fingers are tired, and strength is ebbing fast."

“Say, give me a Calculus and I’ll tell you what I’ll do—
I’ll show you an equation and an answer, I promise, too;
That I was ever a decent man, not one of you would guess,
But I was some four or five years back before I took Calculus.”

“Open the book, I want to look back a mite—
Such stuff as differentiation, there isn’t a need to write;
Page 299—that’s the stuff—and a good old problem, too;
Well, cadets, here’s luck, and, Moody,
my best regards to you.”

“You’ve treated me pretty kindly and I’d like to tell you how
I came to be the wreck you see before you now;
As I told you, once I was a ‘slime’,
with muscle, frame, and health,
And, but for a blunder, should have made considerable wealth.”

“I was a farmer boy—not one behind the plow.
But an irrigation farmer, and I should be one now;
I worked hard at my job, and was bidding fair to rise:
For gradually I saw a college course arise before my eyes.”

“I came to college, as you well know,
and entered as Freshman there;
I went to school for several years to be an Engineer;
And then I took a Math course—
now comes the funny part—
With formulas that petrified
my brain, and that I learned by heart.”

“Why don’t you laugh? ’Tis funny that the rambling wreck you see Could ever take a Math course and expect above a C;
But ’twas so and for a month or two the course was easily passed;
And when the grades came out,
I wasn’t at the last.”

“Boys, did you ever have a course on which you worked for months,
With equations like a war-debt and you used them more than once,
With formulas that would beat the ‘Organic Studes’ and a wealth of work to do?
If so, ’twas Calculus, and that is true as true.”

“I was working on a lesson one afternoon in March,
Of the integration of a dozen things, to build a massive arch,
The problem looked easy, but much to my surprise,
It wasn’t the easy way that worked it, and I’m not one that lies.”

“It didn’t take long to plot it, but before the day had flown,
My good old brain was laid away, and I was left alone:
And ere a week of misery had passed above my head,
The brain that I had treasured so,
had tarnished and was dead.”

“That’s why I’m like I am boys,
why I never saw you smile,
I thought you’d be amused and laughing all the while;
Why, what’s the matter, friend? There’s a frown upon your brow—
Come, rest like me, my brain is dead and I am easy now.”

“Say, boys, if you’ll put up the book, I’ll be right glad,
And I’ll write here the equation that surely drove me mad;
Give me the piece of chalk with which you mark the baseball score—
And you shall see the terrible equation upon the Varsity floor.”

The book was up, and with chalk in hand, the Engineer began
To write an equation that well might chill the brain of any man,
Then, as he placed the integration sign ’way up there at the head,
With a fearful shriek, he leaped and fell across the problem—dead.

—W. C. Wilcox.

Loyalty to Tarleton

“WHAT is school loyalty? one may ask. Is it that spirit which causes us to cheer and shout during moments of intense excitement? Or is it that feeling of constancy and devotion that we maintain during times of quiet, placid thought? One can not be loyal in the true sense of the word unless he puts forth an effort toward the betterment of his institution or makes some sacrifice for the welfare of others. Sacrifices this day are not often made with the blast of trumpets or the hoisting of flags, but usually in utter obscurity. Of course, a student has many opportunities for helping his school, such as by work on the school paper, the year book, the debating clubs, and the athletic teams. But after all the one who reflects the most credit on his Alma Mater and who proves himself the most loyal is the one who does his work well day by day, fulfills his duties faithfully, and conducts himself honorably in his relations with his teachers and his fellow students.

—William Pannill.

Farewell, Tarleton!

Now, dear friends, as I take my leave,
There is one thing I trust you believe:
I've been loyal to the purple and white;
I've yelled at every victorious fight
On Hays' field, with our honored Plowboys,
Who crushed their opponents like a stack of toys.
I must think of the boys who went to the Fair
To boost old Glory through the air.
Now, as I go out to educate mules,
I will often think of those Purple Book rules.
So, 'tis good by, old Tarleton and Father John,
Captain Muleahy and the rifle pond.

—Autrey Caraway.

Dee Merits

My name is Dee Merits.
I am doomed to feel blue;
All the students cuss me—
In every home they do.

No student seems to love me;
But all the teachers do,
For they are always saying,
“Six are few for you.”

My number to fifty is limited,
As the seniors seem to know,
And if they aren't so very careful,
They have to pack and go.

With the juniors I am different;
When at school they first arrive,
I am allowed on all their records
To the sum of sixty-five.

—Sherrod Stover.

The Bugle Call

The bugle calls us every morn
And wakes us from our dreams;
We ope' our eyes; the lights are on,
We wonder what it means.

Then soon it dawns upon us all
It is another day;
Howe'er to rise is not so easy,
We want to have our way.

Yet duty summons us to go;
The bugle call we hear.
We madly rush to our repast
Each morning of the year.

Ode to Our Dean

Oh thou, great friend of all who study,
You were never known to shirk a duty.
We know well you've stood the test,
And this is why we love you best.

Your virtues—many it is true—
Which make you pure as morning dew,
Your “family talks”, the life you lead
Are exactly what we students need.

In time of trouble you heed our call:
All day long, you guard us all.
This is the reason you rank as high
As the brightest star that lights the sky.

With stature medium, genius bright,
Your life has been a shining light:
Your judgment just, your insight keen—
J. Thomas Davis, our noble Dean.

—Carl McKelvy

The Grassburr

It's of very little importance
When heard, spoken, or seen;
It seems of small significance,
The word, Grassburr, I mean.

But this word has special meaning
To the Tarleton boy and girl,
For to us it means a treasure.
A gem like a priceless pearl.

Usually when we hear the term,
We think of the annoying little herb,
But ask the student what he thinks:
He'll reply, “Don't be absurd”.

Most surely we all know the pain
The troublesome burr inflicts,
But a pleasant memory The Grassburr leaves:
In a different way, it sticks.

—Iola Cumbie.

Farewell

Farewell, Tarleton, farewell,
For now we here our course have run.
Schooldays that seem but yesterday begun
Relentless time has quickly passed away,
And brought us to sad parting of the way.

No more in classroom, "gym", or campus seat
Shall we our friends and fellow students greet;
No more from Fort or Dump or Moody's Hall
Shall we come rushing at the bugle's call.

How sweet the memories now of days spent here
With all their joys, victories, failures, tears!
How glad we'd be if time we could but turn
And start anew to live this too brief term!

But time cannot turn, so we must pass on.
Life's day is before us; this is but dawn.
There're sorrows to bear and battles to fight;
We must go forward as long as there's light.

Though we may roam, when from here we depart,
All over the earth, there will be in each heart
A love for old Tarleton that is true and strong.
As long as we live, we're for Tarleton,—that long.

Since parting must come, let us soften its pain
With thoughts of the future and meeting again.
And now, farewell, dear classmates, teachers all,
For we must go our way to answer life's call.

Farewell, Oh, Tarleton, farewell.

—Emmett Noah.

Dear Ed,

Well Ed, I've gotta write a poem or something for this book the students put out called the Grass Burr. Ordinarily that would be a simple matter, but some how my Muse has deserted me tonite. But no doubt it will return sooner or later, and anyhow I never let anything like that interfere with my education. You know that, don't you Ed? Well thats me, 90%. Anyway I have enough trouble keeping my chin out of the soup, or in other words, my autograph off the bulletin board.

However, I'm very Enthusiastic about this idea our teacher has got. It will go over big with Dad when he reads that poem I'm gonna write. My name will be signed at the bottom of it and he always did like to see our name in print; I think that is the mane reason he carries a weakly ad in the paper.

You know, Ed, I was all pepped up when our teacher was telling us how easy it would be to compose this masterpiece she said we had to write. She said we might have the privilege of using the library books for references. But a second later my Enthusiasm went to zero. She said she knew everything in those books and there was no use for us to try to copy. Honest Ed, that was a terrible blow, but all this comes in College life. I'm not the kind to let a thing like that gripe me, so in a short time I regained my composhure and was as full of Enthusiasm as we used to be when we had a fresh jug of that $6 a Gal. stuff.

Well Ed, some of these bum jokers down here make their marks easy enuf, but they have a better chance than me; they have a drag with the teacher. But she shure don't think much of me. I doubt if she would have even knew I was in her class if I had not strolled in about a half hour late the other day. As soon as I went in tho I knew something was wrong and she didn't have to tell me; I could see it in her eyes. When I walked in she was bubbling over with Enthusiasm telling the class about an Elementary theme I had turned in.

Well Ed, I've got to write that poem, so I can't wait on my Muse any longer.

Your pal,

BRUCE WARD

What Have I?

Have I an education, or is it just
A start?
Do I leave all Tarleton behind, or do
I keep a part?
Old Tarleton will remain, years after
I have gone,
Others will come and go, as the years
Pass on.
They, like I, will love and, with sadness
And regret, depart.
The College and the friends print their Pictures in the heart.
When I go, I can't take the Gym or the Barracks with me;
When I go, I can't take my buddies or
My friends, you see.
The campus and the trees are by nature
Made to stay,
Destined to remain, loved by others after
I have gone away.
'Tis not the thing, but the inspiration Gained
That gives most happiness and boundless
Joy unfeigned.
'Tis the mind and the things that Dwell therein
That keeps down the Beast and gives Food for men.
'Twas God's gift to man, to be able
At will,
To call back our school days from the
Crest of life's hill.
Our Tarleton lives and grows, its students
Die;
Each one fills a unit for a while, and Passes by.

—Jack Abbott.

Another one: "Why?"

Rex: "So I could follow my course without leaving the bed."

Leroy Beard: "My pa killed a horse with a broken leg."

Wayne Hillun: "We usually kill them with a gun."

Roy Burkes: "Do you believe that Shakespeare wrote all those plays they say he did?"

Ersel Aceck: "I don't know but when I go to heaven I'll ask him."

Roy: "What if he is not in heaven?"

Ersel: "Then you can ask him."

"I want to buy a pencil."

"Hard or soft?"

"Hard, it's for a stiff examination."

Life is real, life is earnest,
Let us strive to do our best,
And departing leave behind us
Notebooks that will help the rest.

Dedicated to Mr. Eaves:

Twinkle, twinkle little hair,
How I wonder what you air,
Up above his lip so brave,
Why the dickens don't he shave?

Time Passes

I STOOD for a moment yesterday in front of the Administration Building and watched the boys and girls come and go. I saw a boy pass whom I had met the first day I was in Tarleton. I smiled as I thought of the change that had come over this fellow in a few years. Across the campus walked a cadet with a quick and "snappy" stride; his "putts" were shining, and buttons glistened from his shoulders, and I thought of the first time I had seen him slouch up that same path. I turned and walked into the halls. There stood a girl who had registered ahead of me on my first registration morning. She was now a wife. On into the library I went and opened an annual of a past year. There were faces I had never seen; faces that had passed over the "great divide" years ago. Smooth faces—that are traced with furrows now—looked up at me from the pages of that annual. I closed the book with a shudder and walked out into the halls. As I watched the boys and girls pass, I could see changes I had never seen before. Here was a friend time had turned against me. I thought how often the man of last year's fame becomes the jest of today. Everywhere I saw evidence that the wheels of time grind endlessly and impartially.

Letter of a '27 Graduate to her Granddaughter

Dear Granddaughter:

Your grandmother was certainly glad that you took time to write a long, interesting description of your entrance into college. You were right in supposing I would be interested, even though it has been many long years since I have seen dear old John Tarleton College, and many more than that since I graduated with the famous class of '27.

I am glad to know that you have a library that is a credit to the school. Even while I was there, we needed a library and post office separate from the Administration building. Our library was not large enough to seat us all; the post office was so small it was really dangerous for girls to go in just after the mail came in—it was funny to us, though. Since the library could not hold us, we were permitted to stroll on the campus, and “campusology” got to be the main course for some of our jelly-beans and flappers. (I will explain those two terms to you when you come to see me next summer).

Do not tell me, my dear, that the wonderful new gymnasium stands on old Hays Field! It should have been kept as a memorial. Daughter, I have seen Tarleton defeat Grubbs on that field, and I am sure it meant more to us then than it does to you now—you won't agree with me, I am sure! Write me a long letter after Thanksgiving and tell me you have beaten them again. I shall sing “On Ye Tarleton” that day just for old times sake. Those were the grand old days.

How I would enjoy seeing the large number of green houses you spoke of. I wish Miss Gough could have known that her pet dream would have been fulfilled to such a degree! The agriculture and botany departments needed them so much then for experimentation.

The one thing that made me feel that Tarleton was still Tarleton was expressed in your one sentence, “There goes the bugle, blowing for lunch! I only wish you might see the boys as they run, push, and yell to get to the dining hall.”

Although everything else changes I suppose boys' appetites will always be the same as long as the world stands.

Watch yourself and see that you do not get extravagant, or get in a bad crowd—do not be slipping away and going to the matinee afternoons down town. I wouldn't have done so when I was there; I was always very careful not to break any of the regulations.

Write to me often.

With love,

GRANDMA

Tarleton

Oh Tarleton, you were pleasing to our view
When many, many days ago we gladly welcomed you;
Many a student sang a glad refrain,
When he knew he would be back in Tarleton again.
The name "Tarleton" brings a thrill to many a heart,
But the day is saddened
when we must part;
We will always sing our praises
and tell our love for thee,
We'll try our best, dear Tarleton,
to bring fair fame to thee.

—Edna L. Smith.

Teacher: "What tense is 'I am beautiful'?"
Chorus: "Past."

A detour is the longest distance between two driven points.

Jack Abbott: "How did you make out at chorus practice?"
Suds Mathews: "Made first bass on four bawls."

Joel Williams: "How do you know that Miss Glover is old?"
Doc Kennedy: "I heard her say that she had taught Chaucer."

We recommend the huddle system for the examination room.

He was such an expense at college that his father named him Bill.

Barney Wilcox wrote home to his dad:
Dear Dad,

I am asking for more cash sooner than I had hoped, but you see several things have come up, books, dues, laboratory fees, room rent, etc. Please send me a check for eighty dollars.

Respectfully,
Your Son.

Dear Son,

I received your special today and am enclosing the amount you asked for. I was in college once myself you know.

With love,
Dad.

P.S. Is she good looking?

Wilma Currie: "Albert, do you men really like conceited girls better than the other kind?"

Smokey Jones: "What other kind?"

Miss Lillard (in Abilene): "What street comes after main street?"

Street car conductor: "Cedar Street."

Miss Lillard: "See what street?"

Mickey Arnold does not believe in kiss-proof lip stick. Neither does Hill Cone.

"What are you doing for a living?"
"Breathing."

Orville Howard (to a cop who is conducting him to the jail): "But, officer I go to Tarleton."

Cop: "Ignorance is no excuse."

The Fort

When one walks down our littered hall
And looks at our rooms, more like stalls,
And reads the smatterings on our doors
And sees the neglected household chores,

Then he comments on our careless plan,
For we haven't the touch of the female hand.
But whatever we do, we do our best,
And the majority with ambition are blessed;
And with our work we willingly toil
And burn our share of midnight oil.

Now it is only natural for one to say
That life in the "Fort" is by far too gay,
And in this surmise he may be right,
For we have our fun nearly every night,
But when the party gets too rough,
The Colonel's voice grows stern and gruff.

But after all is said and done
About the "Fort", its play and its fun,
The life in the fort is very good
And the close companionship is more like brotherhood.

So we prefer the "Fort" with all its fuss,
For it is nothing less than home to us.

—Paul Massey.

A Dream

MANY long years ago there existed two very prominent Junior A. & M. Colleges in Texas. One was located at Stephenville and was dubbed Tarleton. The other was located at Arlington and called Grubbs. These two institutions were keen rivals on almost every point, especially athletics. All their achievements were recorded in St. Peter's book of life.

One day Gabriel blew his trumpet, and all the dead arose. In a little cemetery a very unusual resurrection occurred. It happened in this manner. There was a handsome youth dressed in a khaki uniform, standing at the foot of a grave. He rubbed his eyes, looked about him and what do you suppose he saw? He saw another youth dressed like himself, save for a slouch cap, sitting on a tombstone near him. The first youth yelled out, "Hello there, Grubbs."

The other youth, on hearing his name, Grubbs, called, looked to see whether any of his old acquaintances were near. He made a startled movement and halloed, "Hello, Tarleton."

As Grubbs and Tarleton were shaking hands, Gabriel sounded his trumpet the second time for the ascension of the elect.

"Well" said Grubbs, "Let's see who can get to the pearly gates first."

"All right," replied Tarleton, as he soared up into the sky.

"Wait, I didn't get an even start," shouted the Grubbite.

"Too bad, brother, I'll see you when the race is won."

Tarleton had lost sight of his rival. Soon he heard a faint and familiar anthem. The sound became more and more distinct, and then a host of girls neatly dressed in blue chambray, and boys handsomely attired in khaki uniforms appeared, singing "On Ye Tarleton." This spurred Lord Tarleton on and in a twinkle of an eye he reached the pearly gates, where he was cordially received by all his friends. When it came his time to be judged, St. Peter, on seeing him, unlocked the gates and unhesitatingly said, "Enter thou in, Tarleton, with all your companions, for you accomplished much while on earth."

On seeing the ancient rival of Tarleton approaching, St. Peter locked the gates. Grubbs with a forlorn expression on his face greeted St. Peter.

"Grubbs", commenced St. Peter, "There is not much hopes for you, for the bad you did while on earth outweighs the good. There are many grievancees recorded against you, but there is one incident I especially wish to remind you of. Thanksgiving Day in 1926 the Tarletonites played your fellow-students, the Grubbites, in football. The game was a hard one on account of the wind and sand. The sandstorm was sent to test your strength of character. You proved to be very weak, for you gave your guests, the Tarletonites, the bleachers from which they got full benefit of the sand, and not the game. The Tarletonites won the game 13 to 0 through their superior mental and physical strength. You can look here on this book and see for yourself your many other sins."

As this heart-rending speech was concluded, Grubbs began to weep remorsefully.

Dear Reader, I hope you will not be disappointed, but before the verdict was given I was awakened by a contemptible alarm clock, which reminded me that I must arise, study for a quiz or two, and meet an eight o'clock class as usual.

—Nina Stewart.

Before examinations:

Lord God of hosts be with us yet
Lest we forget, lest we forget.

After examinations:

The Lord God of hosts was with us not
For we forgot, for we forgot.

A good turn

How sweet to waken in the morn
When daylight first begins to creep
Across the world, and then to turn Right back again—and go to sleep!

Co-ed (writing letter home): "How do you spell financially?"

Roommate: "F-in-a-n-cia-ll-y; and there are two 'r's' in embarrassed."

Doggie Ward (entering a business house): "Have you an opening for a bright young man?"

Irate business man: "Sure, close it when you go out."

Dean Ferguson (at chapel): "Will Williams come to the front?"

HALF THE STUDENT BODY WENT FORWARD!

Dean Davis' little daughter: "Daddy, what is a peace offering?"

Dean Davis: "Anything from a box of candy to a fur coat."

Mr. Ownsby: "What is your daily income?"

Dace Myers: "About 3 a.m."

Captain Mulcahy: "What is it that turns without moving?"

Major James: "Milk".

Lester Smith: "Do you believe in clubs for women?"

Shorty Nance: "Sure; clubs, sandbags, or anything."

C. Mader: "Set the alarm for two."

Red Curry: "You and who else?"

Homan Gragg: "Do you like the simple things?"

Thelma Clark: "Are you proposing?"

Dean Davis: "Do you smoke cigarettes?"

Student: "Yes, sir; got a match?"

The Wail of a Chemistry Student

A Chemistry student says he wants to pass;
This requires meeting every class.
His teacher proves in symbol and letter
Why he should know each equation better,
And dictates so many definitions and rules
That the pupil can see no use of chemistry in schools.

He seldom takes any time off for a "date";
And then, chemistry is first—if "date" be late.
Not even week-ends can he call his own,
Because of chemistry on Monday morn;
All his time must be spent in studying preparations,
Alcohols, esters, acids, ketones, and their relations.

This student is never known to loiter in the hall;
He has no time for a game of ball;
From every source he must gather information,
Because none know the time of examination.
He studies chemistry night and day without rest,
Until at last with a grade of "C" he is blest.

—Gaye Caudle.

Mr. Ferguson: "John, I want you to give me—achoo!"

John Patton: "Yes, sir; but I didn't know that you chewed."

Baylor Bell: "How near were you to the right answer of the fifth question?"

Joe Suttle: "Two seats away."

Doctor Cragwall (to Mrs. Howell): "I cannot cure your husband of talking in his sleep."

Mrs. Howell: "But can't you give him something to make him talk more distinctly?"

Mr. McSweeney: "May, you forgot to change your subtrahend."

Claud May (embarrassed): "No, sir, the laundry did not get back in time."

Charles Neblett: "Oh, Ruth, your face reminds me of the poetry of Bobby Burns."

Ruth Clark: "Mean you that it touches the heart?"

Charles: "Nay, my wee bonny heather blossom, it is full of hard lines."

Excited Cadet: "Quick, a wild cat just went in Mr. Howell's office."

Experienced Cadet: "Let it get out the best way it can."

Jewell Moore (after a voice lesson): "Do you think I can ever do anything with my voice?"

Mr. Gough: "It may come in handy in case of a fire."

Frank Elder (at library, returning a book): "I want to get another book. I can't read this one."

Miss Lee (looking through volume): "This book is quite technical."

Frank: "Don't blame me, it was that way when I got it."

The students were asked to hand in jokes for the Annual. On one piece of paper appeared two words: "Lester Smith."

The "Mr." which leads the way
In "Mr. & Mrs." means
As much as—well, let's say
The "pork" in "pork and beans".

Afterword

IT HAS been the aim of the 1927 Grassburr Staff to produce a year book worthy of the faith the student body placed in us. We have made many mistakes, but we hope that these mistakes may be considered human and the book judged accordingly.

The staff wishes to thank each student for his help in preparing the book. The book would have been impossible without this aid.

If as the years roll by, this annual will help to prevent old Father Time from erasing the memory of Tarleton from our minds, we shall have succeeded and shall be pleased with the outcome of the year's work.

STREWN WITH WRECKS—

The financial coast is strewn with wrecks,—fortunes lost through bad investments and incompetent or dishonest management. But those who place their business with this Bank escape all these dangers.
